

Students attend TN50 dialogue

KUCHING: Some 600 students and youths attended a National Transformation 2050 (TN50) dialogue held in conjunction with the International Youth Congress (IYC) 2017 yesterday.

They had the opportunity to listen to Seremban assemblyman Miro Simuh and TN50 ambassador Ganesh Muren during the dialogue themed 'Youth are the Leaders of Today for a Brighter Tomorrow' held at UCSI Hotel here.

The dialogue took place before three sessions of forum to enlighten participants on education, agriculture and cyberspace were held.

Targeted to reinvent today's education for tomorrow's career, two speakers delivered talks on education. They were CIMB Foundation chief executive officer Datuk Hamidah Naziadin and Dr Marc Lim, Assoc Dean, Faculty of Business and Design, Swinburne

University Sarawak.

Research officer of state Agriculture Department Johnson Chong and state senior veterinary officer Dr William Rovina Nating were the invited speakers to deliberate on 'Redefining agropreneurship through technology'.

Participants at the forum were also taught how to stay safe when using the Internet.

Singapore Computer Society (SCS) IT Youth Council vice president Kaylee Fung, Malaysia Digital Economy Corporation (MDEC) head of cybersecurity Victor Lo and assistant professor of Business Law, University of Nottingham Malaysia Chan Wen Li delivered talks on 'How safe are we and what youth should know'.

The forum concluded at around 6pm second followed by a simple cake-cutting ceremony to mark the second anniversary of UCSI Hotel.

Chan delivering her talk at the forum. — Photo by Chimon Upon